Read, Tax-Payers.

A circular issued by our friends Messrs. J. A. HAMBLETON & Co., of Baltimore, dated May 8th, contains this:

The following letter to the London Daily Telegraph from one who has gone through the process of tendering coupons in Virginia for a license may be read with interest and profit by those who are about to embark in business in that State—it shows clearly the modus operandi, and is of value on that in making this announcement:

To the Editor of the Daily Telegraph.*

"Bir.—My attention has been called to a paragraph in your issue of the 1st instant referring to my tender of Virginia tax-receivable coupons in payment for a sample-metchant's license in Richmond on the 10th uitling. As my experience in the inatter is of some importance to those who are interested in enforcing the 'coupon contract' with the State of Virginia I have much pleasure in stating for their information what happened on the occasion: By the decision of the United States Supreme Court on February 1st last it was established that a license-tax payer who had tradered coupons and had them refused war free to transact his business without a license. I decided accordingly to avail myself of the law to discharge my tax in coupons in preference to coin, and immedistely on my arrival in Richmond I sought the services of Mr. W. L. Royall, the energetic and able representative of the Virginia Committee of the Council of Foreign Boundholders, Our plan of operations was as follows: I proceeded at once in company with Mr. Royall to the office of Mr. Bamuel C. Greenhow. Treasurer of the city of Richmond, and, tendering tax-receivable coupons of the "O per cent. consolidated" bonds, de-manded a receipt, exchangeable in due course for a license, which was refused. I thereupon made an amidavit of the facts just recorded, and attaching it to a written application for a sample-merchant's license, receivable cor devenue and " To the Editor of the Daily Telegraph thereupon made an adidavit of the fac's just recorded, and attaching it to a written application for a sample-merchant's license, proceeded to the office of Mr. B. B. Munford, city Commissioner of Revenue, and, presenting the same, demanded my license, which was refused. Mr. Royall then acquisited the Commissioner that I should thereafter conduct my business without a license, declaring his intention toglve mean order himself, and inviting the revenue officers to do the same. As, however, they preferred under the circumstances not to favor with their custom, we withdrew, and I have since traded, and until February 10, 1887, I shall continue to trade, in Virginia without a license. From the telegram to Messrs. John A. Hambleton & Co., dated three days later, which you publish, to the effect that other parties, having tendered coupons for licenses and been refused, were then selling their goods publicly without molestation, it is evident that other traders have not been slow to follow my example. "I have not and never had any interest in Virginia bonds, but after my experience I sm likely to be a periodical small buyer of coupons, and I am able to testify to the bondholders, for what It may be worth, that their interests are well cared for all the hands of their representative, Mr. Royall. "Allest Edward Dork."

What impudence: What do Virginia

What impudence! What do Virginia Congress who think that that measure is deed will wake up some of these days merchants in particular, think of Mr. DORE'S declaration as to his intentions? Is not his letter humiliating? Does it not clearly establish the fact that he thinks he has the Commonwealth by the threat, and proposes, with the assistance of others, to choke the life out of her? Could anything afford our people a greater stimulus than does If he writes "loud" there is not a his letter to pay their taxes in money, thus creating a public sentiment against the use of coupons which would place it out of the power of Mr. Done and those he would "benefit" to crow over Virginia? We ask all tax-payers to read Mr. Done's letter and the comments of the Messrs. HAMand the comments of the Messrs. HAM-BLETON & Co. upon it and ponder them. Aside from any questions of sentiment and patriotism that may

Mr. C. A. Santos, of Norfolk, read the BLETON & Co. upon it and ponder them. Aside from any questions of be involved, is it not plain. especially to those who pay license taxes, that the course that has been pursued and is advocated by Mr. DORE and the coupon speculators tends inevitably to an exercise by the Legislature of its power to raise license taxes, and means no end of trouble for them in the future?

Too Fast, Gentlemen. A circular signed "The Council of Foreign Bondholders of London, England," and addressed "To the Tax-Payers and License-Tax Payers of Virginia," has been scattered broadcast through the Commonwealth. Several of them have been returned to us from the country. The object of the circular is. of course, to induce our people to put money into the pockets of the foreign holders of Virginia bonds by buying cou-pone with which to pay their taxes. With this view it very kindly furnishes a list of Richmond brokers from whom it is alleged coupons can be purchased. Not so fast, gentlemen "of the Council of Foreign Bondholders of London, England." Your zeal to boom cou pons outruns your discretion. We have the highest authority for stating that more than one of the brokers you are se kind as to advertise not only do not deal in coupons, but discourage others from dealing in them whenever an occasion upon which they can do so presents itself. The coupon boom is not as big a thing, gentlemen, as you thought it was.

TERRIBLE TRAGEDY. Suicide of Ex-State Senator Matthew

LEESBURG, VA., May 13, 1886.
This morning about 5 o'clock the
Hon. William Matthew, ex-member of the House of Delegates and Senate of Virginia, and senior member of the firm of Matthew & Pollock, attorneys at law in this town, came to his death by his own hands.

Mr. Matthew had been complaining for the past ten days and the act was committed in a fit of mental aberration. Dr. Samuel McGill saw him twice profersionally late the evening before and administered heavy anodynes. He got to sleep about 2 o'clock that night. His daughter was awakened about a quarter of 5 o'clock in the morning by the report of a pistol. She found him lying on the bed dressed, clean linen, &c., with pistol in hand. Life was extinct. The ball passed into the right temple and lodged under the skin of the left temple. The pistol was a 32-calibre Colt's. The Coroner declined to hold an inquest. Mr. Matthew was a gentleman of fine attainments, universally popular, pol-ished and affable in manners, stood high in his profession, and was honored and esteemed by all. His death has cast a gloom over the entire community.

BY THE GOVERNOR OF VIRGINIA: A PROCLAMATION.

Information having been received by the Executive that on the night of the 11th instant, in Henrico county, an assault was made on the Rev. William C. Hall and his wife, Mattle Hall, at their home, near Fort Harrison, in said county, by some person or persons unknown, who are now going at large; therefore I do hereby offer a reward of

TWO HUNDRED AND FIFTY DOLLARS to any person who shall arrest the perpetrator of the said assault and deliver him into the jail of said county, and I do moreover require all officers of this Commonwealth—civil and military—and request the people generally to use their best exertions to procure his arrest, that he may be brought to justice.

| Jr. s. | Given under my hand as Governor, and under the lesser seal of this 14th day of May, 1886.

BROWN'S IRON BITTERS D proved a more effectual remedy than anything Mrs. S. V. Ashworth. 415 north Twents-sixth street, Richmond, Va., had used for indigestion and pains about her heart. CHRISTIAN, WHITE & CO. S BLAIR'S CHLORAL THYMOL is useful to doctor and patient. When diffused in the apartment it distincts the attendants as well as the sick. In nearly every instance in which it has been used in this city it has prevented the spread of contagious disease, especially diphtheria and scarlet-fever, beyond the sick room.

It is the most agreeable, innocent, and effective destroyer of bad odors and disease germs yet offered to the public. It has cured whooping-cough in a rema ably short time.
